This process would provide advisory guidance only, and is not binding or subject to appeal. In addition, if the preliminary decision is favorable to the applicant, the applicant must still successfully complete the prelicensing requirements before applying for a license. Even if the preliminary decision is not favorable to the applicant, the applicant may submit a complete application for license and fees following the successful completion of the prelicensing requirements. ### Continuing Education

Prior to license renewal, a licensee shall provide the Commission with proof of having attended twenty (20) hours of Commission approved continuing education courses during the two-year period preceding the application for renewal. ### License Forfeiture

If the license is not renewed prior to December 31 of an even-numbered year (e.g. 2012, 2014, etc.) for failure to submit a renewal application or failure to pay renewal fees, the license shall be forfeited on January 1 of the subsequent odd-numbered year (e.g. 2013, 2015, etc.). If your check for your renewal fee is dishonored or unpaid, your license shall be forfeited on January 1, without further notice.

Restoration of Forfeited License

Effective April, 1, 2010, Act 11 was signed into law limiting the amount of time to five years in which a licensee has to restore a forfeited license. Aside from this new time limit, the current restoration procedures are still in effect.

- Within One Year of Forfeiture - The license of a broker or salesperson may be restored upon written application and payment of the required fees, penalties and required documents.

  - 1) Complete at least thirty hours of elective CE; or

  - 3) pass the precursing examination for the level of license forfeited.
- More Than Four Years But Less Than Five Years - Applicant must pass the precursing examination for the level of license forfeited.

Pursuant to section 467-11(d), Hawaii Revised Statutes, the license of any individual licensed as a real estate broker or a real estate salesperson who fails to submit a completed restoration application of a forfeited license within five years from the date of forfeiture shall be automatically terminated. Once a license has been terminated pursuant to this section, the individual may apply for a new salesperson license pursuant to and subject to all applicable laws and rules in effect at the time of application. IF YOU CURRENTLY HOLD A BROKER'S LICENSE AND YOU FAIL TO APPLY FOR RESTORATION OF A FORFEITED LICENSE WITHIN FIVE YEARS FROM THE DATE OF FORFEITURE, YOUR LICENSE WILL BE TERMINATED AND YOU MUST START OVER AS A SALESPERSON.

A forfeited salesperson licensee may also elect to start over as a new applicant and relinquish any prior experience. A forfeited broker licensee may elect to start over as a new salesperson applicant and relinquish all prior experience.
